PRINCES COME HIGH.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 4.—It costs money to entertain a prince and do it properly. When Prince Henry of Prussia sails for home he will have caused the distribution in this city of close to $200,000 that would not have been spent if he had not visited us. No doubt half of that sum will be spent in carrying him around the country and in receiving and entertaining him in the various cities he is to visit. This makes the respectable total of $300,000.

In this are included only the expenditures directly connected with his entertainment. It is impossible, even approximately, to say how much has been spent on railroad fares by persons who have traveled long distances to see him, or how much they have spent on account of the prince's visit.

Here are some of the items:
Spent in New York.....$100,500
Townsend-Dorsey launching expenses.....5,000
Naval expenditures.....10,000
Army and state department expenses.....2,000
Rent and transportation of special train.....20,000
Decorations and other expenses in other cities than New York (estimated).....50,000
Spent, as to be spent, outside this city.....7,000
Total outlay caused by royal visit.....$275,500 and, including Prince Henry and his suite, 151 persons were seated.

There were but three toasts offered, the first being by the prince, who then drank the health of Prince Henry. It was drunk amid loud cheers and before one-third of the guests, who had risen en masse, to drink his health, had sunk into their seats the prince was on his feet.

"I propose the health of the President of the United States," he called in ringing tones, and up came the banqueters once more.

Major Harrison then rose from his seat. "Long live the Emperor of Germany," he called, holding his glass high. Once more in volume as deep as the cheering came the cheers, all the guests waving their napkins wildly.

The prince lingered for a short time in informal conversation with the members of the entertainment committee, and then retired to his room, to prepare for a visit to the armory of the First Infantry, where the German citizens of Chicago had arranged a choral festival in his honor.

A committee was at the entrance to the hall awaiting the arrival of the prince, and as soon as he had alighted from his carriage he was escorted inside of the building.

As the prince entered the hall, the great orchestra of more than 100 instruments, of which the prince and his suite were escorted to the balcony in the second floor that had been reserved for them.

As soon as he thought the time had arrived in which the voices of his chorus could be heard above the great cheer, Conductor Ehrhorn waved his baton and, with one voice, the chorus started in upon "The True German Heart."

At the conclusion of the song, Chairman T. Lefevre read an address of welcome to Prince Henry.

The chorus, accompanied by the orchestra, then rendered "The Prayer Before the Battle." In a manner that won the approval of the visitors, for they applauded with enthusiasm, the prince leading in the manifestations of pleasure.

E. L. Gause read an original poem, and more songs followed. The prince was greatly pleased at the reception.

JUNE WILL BRING LOCUST SCOURGE

INDIANA ENTOMOLOGIST EXPECTS 17-YEAR PEST THEN.

HABITS OF PUPA DESCRIBED

Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio Will Be the Sufferers, Says Prof. Blatchley.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 4.—Prof. W. S. Blatchley, state geologist of Indiana, has officially designated next June for the reappearance of the dreaded locust pest. Every 17 years these pupa rise from the ground, where the eggs were deposited by the winged insects that preceded them. For a month they feed on every green spring in sight.

There are two great classes of the periodical locust—the 13-year and the 17-year varieties. Each variety in turn is divided into broods, which are designated by numbers. The brood that will appear in June will be known as brood 22.

During their last visit the locusts covered all the state, except the extreme northwestern portion; the southern third of the peninsula of Michigan, the western half of Ohio, the northern third of Kentucky and the eastern fourth of Illinois.

Locusts belonging to the same brood will appear next summer over the same territory, because these insects do not travel any distance. On emerging from the eggs they burrow into the earth in the immediate vicinity of the fall of the two in live in the ground 15 years and in that time may change their skins as often as 20 times. They live on little roots of different species of plants, and in this way approach maturity.

During the first six years of their underground existence they are seldom found on the surface. After this period, however, they often to be found at no less a depth than 20 feet.

When the time is at hand for the pupa to come to the surface, gradually to burrow toward the surface, from the time the pupa leaves the ground, these pupa are found very near the surface, under logs and stones, seemingly awaiting the summons to come higher. It appears that they do not eat at all during this period of waiting.

At each successive appearance, the locusts are observed to have decreased in numbers. A variety of causes may be ascribed for this waste in their ranks. One of the most conspicuous is the presence of domestic animals and fowls in the vicinity of the locusts, since civilization and poultry deeply love the pupa of the locust and, before they have matured, devour them greedily.

It cannot be explained why the different broods of locusts happen to be designated by numbers. The difference in them is one of other of size than that of the locusts themselves.

Indiana doubtless will be visited by the largest brood, No. 22.

Entomologists know a great deal about brood No. 22 of the 17-year variety, for since the year 1716.

To illustrate the numbers in which the pupa appear, Prof. Blatchley remembers having seen more than 900 burrows under one tree from which the pupa or young insects had emerged. Under another tree, 22,000 burrows were discovered. Under a third, 68 openings in the ground were counted within a space of 4 by 10 feet.

What They Are.

Composition of the Famous GRAPE-NUTS FOOD.

A widespread interest has been created among good liver, as to the composition of Grape-Nuts, the popular food. This sugar is identical with, and is known as grape sugar, and it is in condition for immediate transformation into blood and the necessary structure from which the delicate nerve centers are built up.

A food expert of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., followed a line of experiments until he produced the food called Grape-Nuts, of which grape sugar forms the principal part, and it is produced by following out Nature's processes, in a mechanical way. That is, heat, moisture and time are the methods employed and directed by scientific facts gained in research.

Grape-Nuts are probably entitled to the claim to be the most perfectly adapted food for human needs now extant. Certain it is that the perfect action of intestinal digestion during the use of Grape-Nuts is satisfying, and the added strength of body confirms

HUMAN FLY SEEKS DAMAGES FOR FALL

SAYS CHICAGO SUPPLIED HIM WITH ROTTEN ROPES.

CORNICE SAVED HIS LIFE

Sutherland, the Only Steeple Jack Using "Fly" Feet, May Be Entirely Incapacitated.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, March 4.—The "human fly" intends bringing suit against the city of Chicago for personal injuries sustained in work on the Chicago avenue water works tower.

The "human fly" is F. S. Sutherland, who makes his living by scaling the dizzy heights of church steeples, flagstaffs, towers and lofty buildings for the purpose of making repairs, flying flags or painting the statues, towers, steeples and stacks which he climbs.

His has been a long and adventurous career, but without serious mishap until he ascended the Chicago water works tower last year. He declares that he was obliged to use ropes furnished by the city of bearing his weight; that he slipped and tumbled, saving himself by grasping a projecting ledge from being dashed to death on the pavement many hundred feet below, and that he was seriously wounded, his spine and injured his spinal cord.

All these charges the "human fly" makes in a bill prepared by his attorney, D. H. Parker, who insists that his client may be badly injured through the weakness of the ropes furnished by the city of Chicago and that if such is the case he is clearly entitled to damages.

Of course the law department of the city of Chicago will have something to say before the verdict of the jury is reached, and probably the testimony of several "steeple jack" experts will be required to settle the matter.

Whatever the merits of the lawsuit may be, certain it is that F. S. Sutherland, who calls himself the "human fly," has an odd and dangerous calling, which has taken him into places in all parts of the world. He has been on some of the highest towers and steeples in existence, like the Eiffel Tower of Paris, the cathedral at Cologne, the New York World building, Philadelphia city hall and many others. He claims to hold the record for the highest climb ever made without the aid of ladders or scaffolding. Sutherland has a method of his own, which he calls original and used by no other "steeple-jack" in the business.

In casting about for some way of improving the methods of ascending stacks and steeples, Sutherland's attention was attracted the day by a spider which he saw falling from the top of a steeple when he was inspired to renewed exertions by the spectacle of a spider which he saw falling down two or three times. Sutherland was seized with the idea of duplicating the method of the fly.

He found out that the fly was enabled to descend vertical surfaces or even an inverted plane surface as smooth as a glass pane by the use of little suction pads or cups in his feet, and he set himself to the task of duplicating these. After many experiments he succeeded in making a perfecting an arrangement for his feet which, while it cannot be trusted as implicitly as the suction pads of the fly, has enabled him to do some very tall climbing.

In the business in the business, Sutherland is a system of ropes in addition to the suction pads and he has a peculiar knot with which he ties his rope at the top of a steeple when he is about to come down and which opens when he merely shakes the rope on reaching the terra firma, allowing the rope to come tumbling down after him.

The Milwaukee carnival last fall he made a great hit by ascending to the top of the city hall three times a day, sliding down a rope extending from the top of the building at an angle of 45 degrees to a point well out in the street and then pulling down the rope.

TEACHERS' SALARY SCHEDULE.

Ohio May Adopt a Novel Method of Remuneration.

COLUMBUS, O., March 4.—A unique extension of the scope of the salary schedule in a bill just introduced in the House by Mr. Bracken, a labor leader, who is a member of the Franklin County delegation.

It establishes minimum wage scale for teachers in the public schools. The teachers say that the range in compensation in the profession is so widely divergent in the several cities and counties that it is impossible to fix any uniform basis can be established. They placed their grievances before Mr. Bracken and the bill was thereupon introduced.

It provides the following schedule of salaries:

For teachers holding certificates of one year, without experience, $3 a day; with one year's experience, $3.50; with more than five years' experience, $4.25; two-year certificates, with one year's experience, $4.50; with more than five years' experience, $5.25; three-year certificates, with one year's experience, $5.50; with more than five years' experience, $6.25.

The bill provides that the new schedule shall become operative Aug. 1, 1903.

FLOUR MILLS WILL COMBINE.

One Concern to Control Pacific Exports With $10,000,000 Capital.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 4.—The largest industrial consolidation ever undertaken in the Pacific northwest is being quietly worked into shape in this city and San Francisco.

The enterprise is an amalgamation of the interests of the great export flour milling firms of the Pacific coast.

No hint has been given as to the capitalization of the proposed consolidation, but it will probably be somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000,000. As now outlined, the combination will embrace mills having an annual capacity of over 5,000,000 barrels of flour.

Some of the corporations interested in the proposed combine are: The Portland Flouring Mills of this city, the Puget Sound Flouring Mills Co. of Tacoma or Centralia, Sutherland & Co. of Seattle and Spokane and the Spey Flour Mills of Stockton and San Francisco.

These concerns practically control the flour trade of the Orient, their operations extending from Vladivostok and Port Arthur as far south as Singapore.

Counterfeit Gold.

Few persons know that the gold used in color printing and on picture frames is made from a composition powder of bronze and spelter, and not from pure gold leaf, but which, however, gives the same effect. There is another article that is very much imitated, and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Spurious dealers often refill the bottles, and thus give them the same appearance as the original, but unless they own the Private Stamp unknown even the keen eye is not the genuine. Bitter all such imitations. The genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has an unequalled record of cures of stomach complaints back of it, such as dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, biliousness, nervousness, insomnia and malaria, fever and ague.

BOGUS WATCHMAN HELD AS BURGLAR

WALTER MUENCH CAPTURED PLUNDERER OF HIS HOME.

A burglar, whose specialty was stealing preserves but who included household goods and clothing in his plunder, was captured early Monday morning by Walter Muench in his home, 810 Walnut street.

The house was once the paragon of a now abandoned church at Eight and Walnut streets. The church, which has been partly demolished, communities with the house at the rear.

By patrolling the premises with a red lantern, which he had borrowed from a street excavation near by, the negro caused the police and others to believe that he was employed on the premises as a watchman. When Walter Muench came home early Monday morning and found him carrying away a quantity of preserves, he represented himself as a watchman.

Calling his brother-in-law, Henry Kirchner, to hold the negro, Muench investigated and found that his home had been plundered of most of its easily removable contents. Many of the articles were found in the old church. He then called a policeman.

The man said that his name was Ben Mullens.

STATE'S WITNESS HELPED PATRICK

Joseph Mayer Made Sad
Showing Against Accused.

GOLD BRICK FOR PROSECUTION

ADMITTED HE HAD MADE FALSE STATEMENTS TWICE.

Defense's Attorneys Say State Is Proving Their Contention That Fight for Rice Millions Is Basis of Prosecution.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 4.—One of the star witnesses against Albert Patrick made a sad showing in court and the accused is overjoyed.
His lawyers make the charge that a bold attempt at bribery was made. He was Patrick's office boy, Joseph Mayer, who went to Germany shortly after the arrest of Patrick and was alleged to have been sent away by the defendant. But while he was on the witness stand it was developed that Mayer worked his passage to Bremen as a waiter, without money, and as the defense alleged, in the hope of making an advantageous term with the district attorney's office for his return.
If the district attorney brought him back, Mr. Garvin admitted, he bought a gold brick, for his testimony was rendered valueless by Mayer's admission that he had borne false witness in at least two instances.

"Paul T. Telsch, night elevator man at the Berkshire, corroborated a good many facts of Mayer's confession," said the defense in a heap when asked, "Do you know Capt. Baker?"

"Has he paid you for any statement you have made?"

"He promised to pay me for my trouble."

"He closed by saying he never had seen Patrick and Rice together."

"Then came Mayer to his feet and testified to the frequent visits of Jones and others to the office and the further fact that he had bought some colored tablets for Patrick, who had told him that every man in New York took these tablets in his pocket."

"You were subpoenaed to appear before Justice Jerome?" asked Mr. Moore, innocently.

"Yes, but I was not allowed to testify."

Mayer Admits He Made False Statement.

Mr. Moore confronted the witness with a statement he made in the office of Patrick's counsel, after the latter's arrest, but the young man retorted: "That statement is false; I made it to satisfy Mr. Campbell, the clerk."

This caused excitement in the court. Recorder Goff gazed at the witness with horror and amazement.

"The chief contention was yet to come. 'Have you a sister named Fanny, and did you write to her while you were in Berlin?' asked Mr. Moore.

"Yes," stammered the witness, turning pale.

Mr. Moore then put in evidence a letter from the witness to his sister, dated Oct. 31, 1900, most of which is utterly unprintable, and in the last clause of which he makes a direct intimation that he is in Berlin."

"Were you promised any money for testifying in this case?" asked Mr. Moore.

"My mother was promised $200."

"As a part of the scheme, you were to make this trip to Berlin and return?"

"No, I was in Berlin when the $500 was promised; I did not expect the money then."

"You made a statement at the consulate that you thought would earn you $500?"

"Not exactly."

"But the district attorney did not see fit to call you at the first period, and you did make a statement in our office?"

Witness Again Says
He Testified Falsely.

"Yes."

"And the statement you made at the consulate was different?"

"Yes; the statement I made to your Mr. Campbell was false in many particulars."

"Have you received any money from the district attorney's office since you returned from Berlin in November?" asked Mr. Moore.

"No, only my salary from Mr. Monroe."

"What have you done for that salary?"

"I have been in his office several times. I have been doing nothing but waiting."

"Have you ever done any work for Col. Monroe?"

"Yes, I have carried some letters for him."

"Who got your job?"

"Mr. Garvin."

Mr. Garvin is an assistant district attorney. Mayer said that his salary was a week.

The defense was much pleased with the testimony of Mayer. They say it substantiated their contention that the prosecution was enticed by Capt. Baker as a preliminary to forcing the probate of the will of 1898; that it also backs up their contention that, when the role of the case is heard, it will be evident that the whole case is a fight for the old Texan's millions and not, legitimately, a criminal trial.

GET MAD
When Friends Tell the Truth.

Many people become coffee toppers before they realize it, and would be angry if they described even by a close friend.

It will pay anyone to examine carefully into whether or not coffee has gained the mastery over them. A coffee topper may suspect that his or her ailments come from coffee drinking, but they will invariably charge the disease to some other cause, or right down to the heart, they realize that it would be practically impossible to give up coffee, so they hope against hope that it does not hurt them, but it goes on with its work just the same and the restoration to complete collapse and nervous prostration, lasting sometimes for years, unless the poison that causes the disease is discontinued.

There are hundreds of thousands of illustrations of the truth of this statement.

YOUTHS SPANKED IN COURT.
Judge Ordered Police to Administer Unique Punishment.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Two policemen, with broad hands and plenty of strength back of them, acted as masters of ceremony at a public spanking, administered to six youthful delinquents in a Kearney, N. J., police court.

The boys, whose ages range from 10 to 13 years, were brought before Recorder Krebs on a charge of opening freight cars and destroying property.

Recorder Krebs sentenced each to a "good, hard spanking," as the alternative of a $5 fine. The parents spoke for the boys and chose the spanking.

Chief of Police Tolen selected two able-bodied policemen.

Each took a boy and placed him across his knee in the approved position and, at an instant later, the courtroom rang with yells. When the round had been completed the youngsters were again arraigned. They were very penitent and, after the court had admonished them against evil doing, they promised to be good in the future and were discharged.

Editor Endorses a Bank Cashier.
From the Kansas City Journal.

Editor W. D. Thomas of the Fulton Sun has announced some valuable experience through having become one of the bondsmen of the cashier of the new Federal Reserve Bank, as the following remarks in his paper indicate: "The editorial end of the Sun has been marked with the financial end of the Commercial Bank for the past few days. A lack of editorial does not indicate lack of thought. The trouble has been that the best thoughts have not been fit to print. The business end of a Missouri made content to be more disastrous than the financial end of a defunct bank. A common editor should not monkey with it."

DIPLOMATS ARE AGGRIEVED.
Object to Precedence of Supreme Court at McKinley Memorial.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, March 4.—Lord Pauncefoot, on behalf of the diplomatic corps of which he is dean, has protested to Secretary Hay against the precedence that was given the judges of the Supreme Court over members of the diplomatic corps at the McKinley memorial service.

The judges had seats in front of the members of the corps.

The diplomats, feeling that they are the personal representatives of their sovereigns, hold that they rank with the President and are entitled to precedence over any other person connected with the government of the United States.

Secretary Hay has assured Pauncefoot that his protest shall be considered.

MISS FANNIE BLAND DEAD.
End Came While She Sought Health in the South.

COULD SAID "HELLO" OVER THE TELEPHONE

BUT DOG EARLY OF EDWARDSVILLE WAS STERN.

WOULDN'T MARRY "CHILDREN"

Miss Lillian Construbel of Alton West on the Wedding Frock That Was-to-Be.

"Hello."

"Hello."

"Is this Judge Early of Edwardsville?"

"Well, Judge, this is Miss Lillian Construbel of Alton, and I am coming over to Edwardsville on the next train with Frank Richmond of Alton, and we want to get married."

"All right, I shall be here."

"Good-by."

Judge William P. Early, county judge of Madison county, hung up his coat. He saw Monday was going to be a busy day. Judge Early was anxious to see the enthusiastic young lady who was coming all the way to Edwardsville to get married, when there were no less than a dozen ministers in Alton who would have liked to get married in the next ten minutes.

When the 12 o'clock train arrived in Edwardsville, Miss Construbel and Frank Richmond, her sweetheart, hurried to the courthouse and were directed to Judge Early's office. The bride was dressed in white, wearing white slippers, and she wore a beautiful white dress.

The young lady was always the spokesman, and inquired of Judge Early if he remembered the telephone message. The judge admitted he not only remembered it but had remained away from his dinner to await the coming of the young couple.

"Miss Construbel, how old are you?" inquired the judge.

"I am 17 and Frank is 19," replied Miss Construbel, and Miss Lillian Lynch of Alton, who accompanied the bride party, affirmed that the statement was correct.

The young lady stated that her parents were dead and young Richmond declared he had the written consent of his father to the marriage.

"What do you do, Mr. Richmond?" the judge asked.

"Nothing in particular, just work where I can," was the reply.

"Are you willing to marry a young man without any visible means of support, Miss Construbel?" was the next question.

"Oh, that don't give me any worry, Judge Early," the maiden made reply.

Judge Early then stood up and with his friend expressed his disapproval of the children that they could not get married, that they were too young, and that he had no means of support, and the best thing they could do was to go home and forget it.

The young bride-to-be wept bitter tears and declared she would get married anyway, and that no one could stop her.

The party returned to Alton last night and refused to discuss the matter at all.

Ten Years of Blessed Work and Glorious Victories.

Paine's Celery Compound

Has Brought Health and New Life to the Sick and Diseased in Every Part of the Civilized World.

For the last ten years the work of Paine's Celery Compound has been a blessed and cheering one to men and women of every rank in society. In no case has the great medicine failed to benefit, and where it has been used promptly it has in every case brought a cure.

The blessed results that spring from the use of Paine's Celery Compound are not confined to this land of ours. The great life-giving medicine has been sent to every quarter of the civilized world, and has cured the sick, restored the weak and pressed to health and strength, and caused tens of thousands to live who failed to find health in worthless prescriptions, narcotics, pills, and other remedies.

Paine's Celery Compound has cured when all other remedies failed.

It is this best of all medicines, Paine's Celery Compound, that we would direct the attention of every man and woman suffering from weakness, general debility, rheumatism, neuralgia, heart trouble, dyspepsia, anemia, blood diseases, liver complaint and kidney trouble. Thousands of grateful letters have poured in testifying to wonderful and permanent cures.

It is foolish and criminal to delay the use of such a disease banisher when others have so clearly demonstrated its value; when many of your friends and neighbors have been made well by its use. The health-giving virtues are so eminently great that the ablest physicians are prescribing Paine's Celery Compound daily for the sick.

If you are weak physically, in the grasp of disease, or simply feeling out of sorts, irritable, sleepless, or despondent, try one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and note well the magical effects.

SIMPLICITY OF YE' LONG AGO

Assistant Pastor of Mission and Kindergarten Teacher Take Their Wedding Trip on a Car.

Estelle Brock, kindergarten teacher at the Children's Hospital, 2201 Adams street, was married to A. R. Harris of 2010 South Third street Sunday night in the Union Mission Church at 229 Robert avenue, Carondelet, by Rev. T. A. Hamilton. Harris acts as assistant pastor of the mission. The nuptials were celebrated last night at the evening service. Harris and Mrs. Harris sat on the pastor's platform during the religious ceremonies, in which the groom took an active part. Harris met his wife at the home of the bride's parents, where they were to have a reception. The bride and groom were accompanied by a large party of friends. The ceremony was celebrated with religious simplicity. "Save our bride," the minister commanded after the young couple were united. The groom obeyed with a smacking kiss. After assisting in a wedding song, the young girl the groom took his wife home on a street car.

"True hearts are more than coronets. And simple faith than Norman blood." Patiently the man and the maid stood outside the door of the little mission church in Carondelet. The night, facing the bitter wind and waiting a signal. "Hail and fair was she and very girlish in her white from. She shivered, but her eyes were very bright. Her cheeks alone were colored, for even the rose on her bare head was white. She held the man's hand and his stern aspect face flushed happily. A woman opened the door of the mission and said: "Ready."

The words of a song leaked out the open portal. "There's a great day coming. A great day coming."

"It's here, it's here," the man said, leading his sweetheart along the narrow aisle. When they faced the minister on the carpeted platform scenes of long ago were recalled by older wedding guests. There was little of modern trapping and dwelling. Lacking groomsmen or bridesmaids, silken ribbons, flowers and orchids, the young girl, unattended, faced the minister, even as the world hand in hand they stood, unabashed and radiant.

The ceremony was long and the words were those in use when Ohio was on the frontier. "I will," of both bride and groom reverberated through the room. "Save our bride," the preacher said when the ceremony was ended.

The bride blushed red as her husband, disregarding smiling faces, enfolded her with his arms. That kiss announced the beginning of a new life. Then the preacher, motioning the young couple to a seat on the platform, plunged straightway into fervent exhortation. The sermon ended with a general invitation for the wedding guests to come forward for prayers.

A young girl responded and sobbed as she fell on her knees. The groom permitted the bride's hand to slip from his grasp and he knelt beside the girl. For 20 minutes he prayed for the divine blessing upon the troubled soul. He asked that she be blessed even as he was blessed. The bride's admiring eyes rested on her husband till the girl rose and said her peace was made. "Lo, the bridegroom cometh," the preacher cried.

Long followed and the religious service ended. The congregation crowded around the altar to offer good wishes.

All the women kissed the bride and the men congratulated the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Harris were the last couple to leave the little church. "I wish I could take you to our home in a carriage," he said. "A street car is just enough," said she. In affection and simple faith they rode happily to the little home already furnished at 200 Merchant street.

For this is the way of love.

Kansas and Texas Sent in Some Damage Reports and the Southwest
Was Liberal Buyer of Wheat.

Though trading was light, wheat and corn advanced steadily Tuesday. Southwestern buyers bought wheat on reports of damage to the growing plant in Kansas and Texas, and the unfavorable weather. The speculative offerings were light and the primary receipts were small. Country reports were reported to be in such a bad condition that farmers could not deliver grain.

Wheat opened 1/2c up at 83c and sold up to 83 1/2c, which was bid at the close, a gain of 1/2c over Monday. May corn opened 1/2c up at 52c, receded to 51 1/2c and advanced to 52 1/2c, closing with a gain of 1/2c over Monday.

According to Bradstreet the available supply of wheat at the Rocky mountains decreased 438,000 bu. last week. The supply in Europe and on the coast was increased 1,000,000 bu. making the total world's supply 1,300,000 bu. while the corn supply fell off 472,000 bu. while the oats supply fell off 472,000 bu.

The weather map showed seasonable weather in the main part of the Mississippi river. Some snow fell in Kansas and Texas, and in some places it was reported to be in a bad condition. Primary receipts were 80,217 bu. less than a year ago. There was very little export business.

Wheat was strong on damage reports from the Southwest and unfavorable weather. The plant is now exposed to the cold weather. Kansas and Texas sent in damage reports and the Southwest was a liberal buyer of wheat.

RAILROADS BROKE
ON HEAVY SELLINGDEALERS LARGE IN PREFERRED
AND TRANSIT STOCK.TRUST STOCKS SELL OFF
Market Slow and Quiet Outside of Railways and Colonial Trust—Bank
Stocks Hardly Quoted.

There was a bearish turn in the market this morning and one that was particularly centered in the railway issues, which sold largely and suffered severely in price. The buying was good, but the selling was so persistent that the preferred stock sold at 4 1/2 of a point from $24.25 to $24 and closed 1/2 point lower than yesterday at $24 1/2. The dealings in the Transit stock were very heavy, a lot of over 700 shares at prices ranging from $20 1/2 down to $20 1/4, and the close being 1/2 point lower for the day at $20 1/2.
